Eman | STUDENT

“I greatly benefited from learning English and getting my citizenship. Thank you for all that you do to assist refugees.”
Eman never planned on moving to the U.S. Originally from Iraq, she was resettled in Syria as a refugee prior to the Syrian Civil War. Unable to leave as the war started, her life was forever changed after a bomb hit her apartment building, resulting in the loss of her husband and daughter. After such tragedy, it would have been easy for her to lose hope, but that is not who she is.

Resettled in Connecticut, she then turned her attention to learning English and obtaining her citizenship. To take the test, one must be able to read, write, and speak English. Eman joined LVGH’s English and citizenship preparation classes. Through her determination and work ethic, it came as no surprise that she easily passed her citizenship test. With this weight off her shoulders, she has been able to visit family and can start writing the next chapter in her life. She has overcome so much and is a truly remarkable human being.

Kalaivani | STUDENT

“Apinayaa loves school, she can’t wait to come every morning.” The rising cost of childcare can be a major barrier to parents looking to continue their education. With the introduction of our on-site Early Literacy program this past year, parents like Kalaivani no longer need to decide between childcare and their own education.

Originally from Sri Lanka, she needed to learn English, as Tamil is her native language. Now, while she is in class learning English, Apinayaa is right down the hall making friends and enjoying basic literacy lessons of her own. Kalaivani looks forward to improving her English skills so that she can get a job and help her daughter with her own education in the future.
